

E-NEWSLETTER

May 2009

Professional Recruiter ready to advise on networking, making connections

Networking – an important skill for professional communicators anytime. In the current economic situation, networking is a vital tool for everyone. Paula Calise, a principal with Calise and Company, a local executive search firm, will present at the May 28 chapter meeting for the Dallas Fort Worth Chapter of Religion Communicators Council.

Paula Calise
Calise & Co.

She'll share techniques and ideas about how to make connections and build a network. Called a "networker extraordinaire" by DFW chapter member Mary Jacobs, Ms. Calise will bring her professional networking expertise as a top quality executive search pro with non-profit consulting experience. She notes several primary reasons for networking: finding sources, stories; adding to one's personal network; adding prospective clients; job searches. Join RCC members and friends on Thursday, May 28 to hear this timely presentation. We'll meet on the campus of Juliette Fowler Homes, 1234 Abrams Road, Dallas from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. Cost is $15 and payable at the event. Please email or call for reservations: Deb Christian, dchristian@umr.org, 214.630-6495 ext 147 by end of day on Tuesday, March 26.

Norvell Slater Communication Award Winners

Pictured with Estelle Slater, Norvell's sister are Slater Award winners for work done in 2008. (l-r) Mike Ghose, Commercial Communicator, John Lovelace, Lifetime Communicator, and Larry James along with Central Dallas Ministries for Religion Communicator. Award presentation was in April